

EVERYTHING JUST SPLENDID.

So Female Employees of the Hastings Insane Asylum Testify.

A LITTLE EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENSE.

Nothing New Brought Out Except a Confirmation of the Story Told by Matron Slater—Bank Officials Called.

HASTINGS, Neb., July 2.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The investigation into the management of the Hastings insane asylum resumed this morning in the Brewster hotel before the full board of public lands and buildings. Governor Thayer was also in attendance. The defendants were on hand with a corps of witnesses from the asylum.

Before the opening of the session the board notified the several banks of the city in which Liveringhouse has deposited funds, that they were to produce their accounts while he did business with them.

The first witness was Mrs. I. B. Smith, formerly supervisor of the institution. She was introduced for the purpose of showing that Matron Slater and Mr. Lee had requested her to make affidavit to the same story against Test and Liveringhouse which they proposed to tell. She declined to make the affidavit, but on cross-examination admitted that the story described was absolutely true.

The defendants' attorney endeavored to impeach the character of Mrs. Slater, but he was not permitted to do so by the board on the ground that she was not on trial. Emma Gallagher, a waitress in the officers' dining room at the asylum, testified that the management of the institution under Dr. Test and Liveringhouse was excellent. She stated she knew nothing of any work done there save that in which she was employed. She said that she had received no wages from the asylum, but that she had received payment occasioned by the deficit. The books of the steward, however, show that she was paid $100 out of the deficiency fund, and that the amount had been paid in advance and that the amount had been dis-

A recess was taken at noon. Governor Thayer opened the afternoon session with a question which he had declined to answer a question of Attorney General Hastings on Tuesday last seeking what information his excellency had as regards the death of Miss Cousins.

Then followed a number of employees at the asylum. Mrs. Carter, the seamstress Miss Selma Myers, Mrs. E. Fisher, and Mrs. M. Reed, all of whom were introduced. These testified that they had had excellent opportunity to witness the working of the institution, and that the management was excellent. They were closely cross-examined, however, by Attorney General Hastings, and admitted that they knew nothing of the details of the management.

Mrs. Carter testified that she could not believe Mrs. Slater, because she had told several things which she had never seen. She had been paid $100 out of the deficiency fund, but received $40 interest.

Miss Myers did not know much about the management of the asylum, but she seemed competent, and Liveringhouse was always at work. When asked who had requested her to make an affidavit, she said it was Dr. Test, and that he had asked what she could tell of Mrs. Williams. She got some of her checks and a receipt for $25, which she received $25. $20 is the man who has been supplying things in the kitchen, and she said she had in her ward a pint of beef wine and iron would be used in three days, and about a quart of whiskey in a month.

The officers of the asylum, who are having read letters written to Witness Smith by Witness Lee, setting forth what it was proposed to do against Test and Liveringhouse, and the lady spoke on in complimentary terms of Dr. Test and Mr. Liveringhouse.

The assistant physician at the asylum said that so far as he knew the conduct of Dr. Test had not been disreputable, and his management of affairs had been strictly honest. While he might have erred in judgment, he did the best he could. A knowledge of no act warranting criticism.

Witnesses testified that the labors of Mr. Liveringhouse. In the cross-examination the attorney general, taking the doctor's assertion that he knew of no act warranting criticism in the management of the institution, the following occurred:

"Would the carrying of a person on the part of five men for a distance of a mile be charged to a subject of criticism in your estimation?"

"It might be a subject on the face of it, but in the case, it would need a proper explanation."

"Would the duplicating of the salary of the steward at the rate of $100 per month be a subject of criticism?"

"It would be if done with the intention of defrauding."

"The doctor testified that he had been a partner of Dr. Test's in St. Paul, and among other things that night attendants were not allowed to administer medicine to patients unless they were ordered by physicians."

Night Watch Lookburrow, who administered to Patient Ziegler the night before the doctor died, was asked to deny the statement of the complaining witnesses, of whom there were two at every point. He had dropped the patient in a spoon, poured it into a tin cup, diluted it with water, and given it to the patient. Witness Leland Smith swore that he had seen the doctor from the vital into the cup, also that he explained as he did so: "I'll give the rest of the night."

Lookburrow denied having used the spoon. He was asked to explain why he had been three months behind in his books, and told the employees he would pay interest when he caught up. Before all the interest had been paid, the Bee published the news of his duplicitous conduct. He then discontinued paying interest, lest he might be asked to pay it, and he was asked if he knew anything regarding the misconduct of

JOHN C. WATSON'S DEFENSE.

He Pays His Compliments to Certain of the State Editors.

PLATSMOUTH AND HER CELEBRATION.

A Medal of Honor Comes to Aurora—A Chapter of Accidents—The Church Trial at Fremont.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., July 2.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Considerable has been printed in various newspapers in regard to the work of Hon. John C. Watson of this city, as chairman of the republican state central committee during the campaign last fall. Mr. Watson was seen by your correspondent today and said: "The executive committee of the state central committee met in Lincoln about one month ago, for the purpose of auditing the accounts and straightening up the financial business of the committee. All the state officers, that is the republican candidates, were requested to be present at this meeting. During the session called the attention of the committee and the other gentlemen present to a number of articles reflecting on me as chairman in the Lincoln and Fremont papers. The entire committee as well as myself, were advised me to pay no attention to the articles and heartily endorsed the course I had pursued both during the campaign and in the legislature."

"As to seeking the nomination for state senator, I did not do so. In fact I was out of the city when nominated, and did not accept the nomination until after I had consulted with Hon. L. D. Richards, Brad D. Schlauch and other well known republicans, all of whom advised me to accept the nomination."

"As to any misappropriation of moneys the accusation is perfectly ridiculous. W. F. Bechel of Omaha, the treasurer, handled the money. All his orders were by order on him and the details can be easily checked up. In fact, I shall demand a thorough investigation of the matter, which I have been asked to do by the board of public lands and buildings."

"As to the charge of fraud, I have been asked to do so by the board of public lands and buildings. I have been asked to do so by the board of public lands and buildings. I have been asked to do so by the board of public lands and buildings."

OMAHA'S POSTAL AFFAIRS.

They Receive the Consideration of the Authorities at Washington.

SKETCH PLANS FOR THE NEW POSTOFFICE.

Little Boxes on the Street Cars Talked of—Small Hopes of an Increased Carrier Service—Scandal in Sight.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE. (SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE BEE.) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 2.—There has been some talk here of placing the boxes on the street cars of Omaha in order to facilitate the carrying of mail matter to the postoffice from the remote sections of the city, but the superintendent of the free delivery service has declined that the scheme is not feasible. It has been tried before, more than twenty-five years ago, and the results then obtained were not such as to induce the department to try the experiment over again.

CLASS OF MAIL MATTER. The supervising architect of the treasury has had a set of sketch plans prepared for the proposed new building in Omaha. These plans have not yet been examined by Mr. Ed Brooke himself, but he will probably be able to get at them next week, and they will then be submitted to three cabinet officers for approval as provided by law. It is probable that they will be approved by the end of the present month, but it will require some additional time to get the working drawings ready, and until this is done, there will be no invitations for proposals over for the preliminary work upon the building.

NO MORE CARRIERS. Mr. Scott, chief of the salary and allowance division of the treasury, has set up to his eyes in work at the
